PARENTING PULONG

Child development is at the same time a physical, socio-emotional, intellectual and spiritual process. To support it, family has to create favourable conditions. If you notice some delay, consult a doctor.

Becoming a parent is a process and giving birth to a child is only the first step to become completely a parent. You should also respond to the physical, emotional and intellectual children's needs.

Parenting takes time, attention, patience, strength and most specially love.

To bring a respectful and efficient education to their children, parents should adopt behaviours based on love, discipline and communication.

Both parents are very important on this process.

There is not perfect parent. There is not perfect way of being a parent. It takes a life time.

Sometimes it could be complicated because of several reasons (material, financial, physical, etc.) but the parent is not alone. The parent do not be afraid to ask some help to family, neighbour, social workers...
